FEUDING WITH SOVIETS TOPS U. N. BUSINESS

MRS. ROOSEVELT MAY ANSWER BLAST AT 'WAR MONGERS'

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Lake Success, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United Nations assembly ranking political committee showed the United States-Russian battle ahead of all other main business late today.

This means that the 55-nation committee of ace diplomats will see a quick resumption of the U. S. Soviet-Conflict tomorrow at 2 p. m. (CDT).

The United States, meanwhile, designated Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a spokesman to answer charges of "war-mongering" in the U. S. These charges were made last week by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister on the assembly floor.

World Capital Planned

Other top developments were:

1. The political committee approved unanimously the membership applications of Yemen and Pakistan. Their final entry will be voted by the same nations in plenary session soon.

2. The United States teamed with Russia against Britain to block immediate debate on the report of the U. N. trusteeship council in the trusteeship committee.

The report was put off until next week so that Russia, which boycotted the trusteeship council last spring, could study it.

3. The assembly's new committee on planning and financing the proposed world capital on Manhattan's east side, chose Warren R. Austin, No. 2 U. S. delegate, as chairman.

4. Trygve Lie, secretary-general, told the budgetary committee he anticipated a reduction of nearly $5,000,000 in the 1948 U. N. budget. He said the U. N. might reduce the budget from its estimated total of $39,403,792 to $34,500,000.

Calendar Revised

Joseph Bech, of Luxembourg, chairman of the political committee, tossed aside a proposed worksheet submitted by Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, assembly president, and proposed these changes:

Keep the Greek-Balkan case as No. 3 on the list for debate, after two less vital points are disposed of; move the U. S. proposal for an interim "little assembly" committee on peace and security from No. 11 to No. 4; move the Vishinsky resolution against "war propaganda" from last place—No. 13—to fifth position; move the question of revision of the Italian peace treaty from No. 9 to No. 6, and put the U. S. demand for consideration of the independence of Korea in 7th place instead of 12.

The committee then passed over the voluminous annual report of the security council temporarily, called up the Greek case and adjourned at 4:15 p. m. (CDT) until tomorrow.

Shelter For Atom Attack Built Under The Tribune Tower

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune announced today an atomic bomb shelter has been prepared under the Tribune tower.

"Measures are being undertaken by the Tribune to protect, so far as possible, its employees and tenants in the event of an atom bomb attack upon Chicago," the newspaper said.

Paroles Of Former Capone Gangsters To Be Investigated

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—A congressional subcommittee will start an investigation here tomorrow into the federal paroles of four former Capone gangsters convicted of extortion.

A demand for an inquiry followed the release of the four, Paul Ricca, Charles Gioe, Louis Campagna and Philip D'Andrea, all of Chicago, from the federal penitentiary after serving three years and four months, the minimum, of 10 year sentences.

They were convicted in New York in 1944 of conspiring to extort more than $1,000,000 from the movie industry.

The investigation into their parole was requested by two Illinois congressmen, Fred Busbey, Chicago, and Ralph Church, Evanston, both Republicans.

Busbey, a member of the subcommittee of the House committee on expenditures in executive departments, which is conducting the investigation, said the four parolees had been summoned to the hearing to tell their stories.

Busbey said he had repeatedly requested Attorney General Thomas Clark to disclose the circumstances which prompted the parole board to open prison doors for the four.

Busbey said the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.), planned to summon many witnesses, including a number of persons listed by the department of justice as having made representations to the parole board on behalf of the men.

The list included 36 names, among them Emanuel M. Stern, Fargo, N. D., and Michael Abraham, Michigan City, Ind., for D'Andrea; L. E. Lucas and Guy F. Keim, both of Berrien Springs, Mich., for Campagna; and Curtis N. Vilas, Sarasota, Fla., for Ricca; Paul Dillon, St. Louis attorney, with Glenn P. Boehm, Washington, D. C., for all.

MICHIGAN CORN ESCAPES FROST

Warming Temperatures Forecast Friday And Saturday

Lansing, Sept. 24 (AP)—Scattered damage to corn was the only frost damage suffered by the state yesterday, the federal-state crop reporting service said today.

Where potato vines were nipped, the service added, the cold killed late blight which had started to develop in some fields.

Farmers could look for temperatures four to five degrees below normal for the balance of the week, the service said, and warming temperatures Friday in the north and Saturday in the south.

The service reported wind damage to fruit crops Sunday was confined to southwestern counties. First reports indicated that about one fifth of the damage was reported north of Grand Rapids.

Prior to the weekend rains good progress was made on farms in seed bed preparation for winter wheat and rye and a considerable acreage was planted. Silo filling and bean harvesting occupied other farmers.

The rains were expected to increase the bean harvest and lower temperatures to augment the sugar content of sugar beets.

Half of the state's corn acreage was reported to be mature, nearly one-fifth in the hard dough stage and another fifth in the soft dough stage. If killing frosts do not occur until the normal dates Oct. 5 to 10, at least three quarters of the acreage will escape damage.

Republicans Book State Convention In Detroit, April 3

Lansing, Sept. 24 (AP)—Michigan Republicans will gather for the important election year spring state convention Saturday, April 3, 1948, in Detroit.

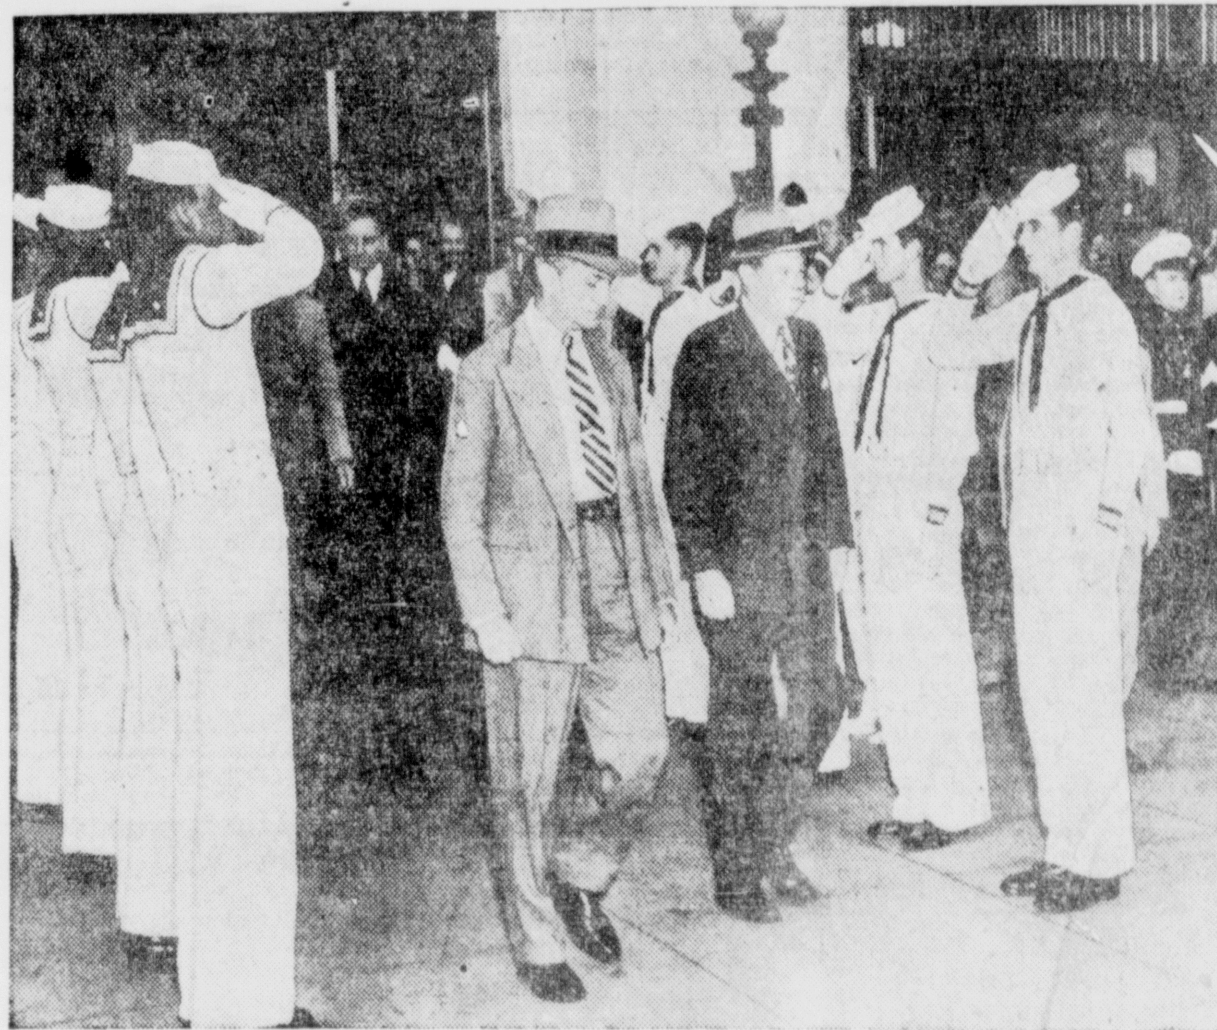

This was decided today at a meeting of the state central committee here.

At the same time it was determined the Wayne county district and all county conventions will be held Friday March 12. Until this year, when the central committee took over the job, the dates of county conventions were set by county chairmen.

The national Republican convention is set for June 21 in Philadelphia.

Governor Sigler, appearing before the committee members, declared that the party "is in a position to render a greater service than at any time in history, because of the country's economic and labor and management situations."

He advised the party to be "hard-hitting, broad-minded and courageous."

Accompanying Forrestal is the new Secretary of the Navy, James L. Sullivan. (NEA Telephoto)

Atom-Bombed Nagasaki Soil Has Bumper Crop Yield, Expert Claims

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—Atom scientists in Chicago today expressed interest and surprise in the Tokyo report of 50 to 300 per cent increases in yield of crops grown in radio-active soil at atom-bombed Nagasaki.

(Earlier today Takeo Furuno, Nagasaki agriculturist, told Kyodo News Agency in Tokyo that wheat, cotton, pumpkins, sugar beets, tomatoes, eggplants, and similar plants showed from 50 to 300 per cent increases over previous production at his experimental plot in the center of the atom bomb blast zone just outside Nagasaki City.)

Asked why the radioactive ground could produce such an increased yield Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize physicist, said "I really don't know. It sort of surprises me."

"The first question that occurs to me is: Has that ground been used recently, or has it been lying fallow? But I suspect an agriculturalist like Furuno would have considered that."

Dr. Austin M. Brues, a University of Chicago atomic scientist, who visited Nagasaki last winter, said "anything is possible."

JAP CANNIBALS PUT TO DEATH

Torturers Of American Prisoners Hanged On Island Of Guam

BY DON WHITEHEAD

Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Sept. 24 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tachibana and four other Japanese convicted of cannibalism, torture and murder of American prisoners of war were hanged yesterday on Guam, the Navy announced today.

The four who died on the gallows with Tachibana were Capt. Masaharu Tanaka, Capt. Shizuo Yoshii, Maj. Sueo Matoba, and Tadamasa Igawa, inspector of Japanese civilian police on Guam during the war.

The four were involved in some of the most heinous crimes perpetrated by the Japanese during the Pacific conflict.

Tachibana, while commanding officer of a brigade, and later while as a division commander on Chichi Jima, ate the flesh and livers of prisoners who had been tortured and beheaded at his orders, the prosecution disclosed during the trial.

Maj. Matoba, one of his subordinates, admitted he ate human flesh on several occasions, and it was Capt. Hoshii who had an American put to death and had the liver delivered to his cook.

Hoshii said he ate human flesh "to make me strong."

Capt. Tanaka was convicted of executing seven American prisoners on Truk Atoll without benefit of a trial.

Igawa was convicted of beheading an elderly Guamanian civilian because he had served 25 years with the United States Navy.

Dr. Brues added, "I know Furuno. I met him at his garden site. I admire that man, and know he is a competent agriculturalist. He's running scientific experiments on the spot where his demolished house once stood."

"The report is interesting. It shows that it makes it necessary that the National Research Council continue its studies; to weigh and balance various reports on this sort of thing."

PROTEST FIRED AT YUGOSLAVIA

Action Of Tito's Troops Seen As Dangerous In Trieste Area

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United States has fired another protest at the Yugoslav government, demanding an immediate end to "irresponsible" ultimatums from Marshall Tito's troops in the Trieste area.

Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett said the American note warned that such action toward British and American soldiers are "exceedingly dangerous and likely to precipitate incidents leading to most serious consequences."

Yugoslav troops moving during the past week into former Italian territory awarded them under the peace treaty often have argued bitterly with Allied troops stationed along the provisional border of what is to be the Free Territory of Trieste.

The ultimatums mentioned in the protest were issued by Yugoslavians wanting to take over certain positions along the boundary against American wishes. The Yugoslavians generally threatened to use force if necessary, although in most cases the arguments were settled.

Following up one of the latest incidents, American Army headquarters in Trieste yesterday demanded the return of three American soldiers reported forced at gunpoint into Yugoslav territory.

Farmer Loses His Wallet, Finds $170 In Butchered Calf

Floresville, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—Farm. Melvin Lotheringer, lost his wallet containing $370 in currency in his cowpen last week.

This morning he found the tattered, empty wallet where four calves were staked. He killed one of the calves and recovered $170. The other three calves still were grazing this afternoon, but Lotheringer wouldn't guarantee they would grow into cows.

CRUSHED UNDER CAR

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP)—Two-year-old Richard Squires was crushed to death today while playing hide and seek under a car belonging to a neighbor, Leonard Willis. The latter felt a bump as he started the car up, and when he got out to investigate, found the child lying dead underneath the machine.

FLIERS SIGHTED ON LIFE RAFTS

Six Crew Members Bail Out Over Pacific South Of Guam

Guam, Thursday, Sept. 25 (AP)—Six crew members of a C-54 Army transport plane bailed out over the Pacific 430 miles south of Guam late yesterday and all have been sighted in life rafts, air force authorities said today.

The wreckage of the plane and four life rafts bearing the six were spotted by a search plane. Rescue ships were being sped to the scene guided by aircraft of the fleet.

Cause of abandoning the plane and its scheduled route very not learned immediately.

Missing President Of Thuringia Is European Mystery

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—The whereabouts of Dr. Rudolf Paul, missing minister president of Soviet-occupied Thuringia, became a deeper mystery tonight.

For three days rumors have spread that Paul, who fled from his capital at Weimar on Sept. 1, was in the American zone and was being interrogated by American authorities concerning a batch of secret documents he supposedly brought with him.

An American informant who yesterday claimed to have positive knowledge that Paul was being questioned by Army authorities said tonight he was not sure. U. S. Army officers denied all reports that they had seen, heard or knew anything about him.

Pontiac Policeman Held For Slaying His Fancied Rival

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP)—Det. Sgt. Harry Engelby, 44-year-old police force veteran, awaited examination Oct. 7 following his arraignment today on a charge of slaying a fancied rival for his wife's affections.

He demanded examination when he appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan on a first degree murder charge.

The victim, James Harris, 38, was shot to death early Saturday as he left an auto plant with Mrs. Sarah Engelby, attractive 42-year-old wife of the detective, and two other fellow-workers.

Mrs. Engelby is recovering from a bullet wound in the leg.

Minor Earthquake Jolts Boise, Idaho

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 24 (AP)—A minor earthquake shook the Boise area tonight. No serious damage was reported.

Mrs. Jack Walker said the tremor shook chairs, tables and lamps in her home. Several other persons said dishes were rattled and furniture moved from the shock.

A crack was made in the brick siding of a garage.

EXPRESS CHARGES UP

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—The interstate commerce commission today authorized an increase in Railway Express charges. It is estimated the increase will bring in $61,000,000 in annual revenue.

St. Lawrence River Collision Fatal To Two, Ten Missing

Massena, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A crewman from the Canadian collier Milverton died here tonight, the second victim of a collision in the St. Lawrence river today that set off a terrific explosion and fire on the coal ship, as an oil cargo spilled over its bows.

Ten men, in addition to the dead, were injured and 10 others from the 2,600-ton collier were unaccounted for. All 22 of those aboard the oil tanker Translake were safe.

William Goldworthy, 29, of Verdun, Que., succumbed in a Massena hospital to the effects of burns William Robertson of Toronto, second mate on the Milverton, died earlier en route to an Ogdensburg hospital, where six others were taken.

The Milverton and the Translake collided off Iroquois, Ont., about 23 miles west of Massena and 17 miles east of Ogdensburg. An unverified report said F. Dobson of Montreal, third engineer on the collier, was injured fatally.

The Translake was carrying a cargo of crude oil from Montreal to Prescott, 15 miles from Iroquois. The Milverton was bound downstream from Oswego to Port Alfred, Que. The collision occurred about a mile from Iroquois.

Capt. L. E. Pain of the Milverton, hospitalized in Ogdensburg, gave the account of the accident:

"The tanker * * * cut directly across my bow. There were no possibilities of stopping my ship, and we struck her amidships.

"* * * we cut a great gash into her side, and the oil spouted over our bows. Almost at once it caught fire. There was an inferno forward, and it became a hell when our spare fuel tanks in the bow suddenly blew up and showered everything with blazing oil.

"Several of the crew leaped into the river. We got our engines going as soon as possible and beached

COASTAL STORM HITS SEABOARD

Gale Damage Is Slight; North Central States Get Frost Warning

(By The Associated Press)

The eastern coastal storm, bringing winds of 35 to 45 miles an hour and heavy rains, moved northeastward toward the New York region Wednesday night, and chill weather brought frost warnings in some north central states.

The disturbance on the seaboard was that which originated in the Caribbean and moved across Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. It left little damage behind it, and the weather bureau said it was no longer severe.

Frost was predicted for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Lower Michigan. Below freezing temperatures were forecast for north-west Iowa and Minnesota.

Cool temperatures were reported in the Great Lakes region, the northern plains and the northern Rockies Wednesday. The west coast was fair and warm, with Los Angeles reporting a noon temperature of 94. In the California valleys, the temperature moderated after Tuesday's 100 degree heat, with Fresno enjoying a comparatively mild 87.

Except for scattered light showers over Wisconsin and Michigan, and stormy weather in the southeast, most of the country had clear skies.

New Trial Started For Frenchy Benoit In Trooper Killing

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP)—Alcide (Frenchy) Benoit, 33 imprisoned for life a decade ago in the slaying of a state policeman, went on trial again today as a self-styled victim of Michigan's "quick justice."

By coincidence, his retrial opened before circuit judge Clifford A. Bishop of Flint, who 24 hours earlier attempted to halt the flood of lifers seeking release under the "quick justice" ruling of the United States supreme court.

The first day of Benoit's retrial was consumed in a futile attempt to select a jury with a panel of 54 persons exhausted, the hearing was recessed until Thursday when another panel of 60 persons will be on hand.

Benoit was sentenced in 1937 in the slaying of state trooper Richard F. Hammond, whose body was found handcuffed to a rural mail box near Erie, Mich.

HOW TO FEED WORLD IS BIG U. S. PROBLEM

PRESIDENT QUIZZES CONGRESSMEN AND ECONOMIC AIDES

By JOHN B. OWEN

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Truman laid the world's food shortage dilemma before his cabinet at an extraordinary meeting today. He also called in food and economic advisers, and asked leaders of Congress to confer with him on the problem Monday.

Officially the cabinet meeting, ordinarily held Friday, went over the "general food situation." European needs much more than the United States has in sight for export.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said after the cabinet conference that Mr. Truman will issue tomorrow a cabinet committee report on what food may be in sight for Europe. The president will accompany it with a statement of his own, Anderson added.

This committee has been studying American ability to meet Western Europe's needs for food and perhaps fuel. It includes Anderson, Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Anderson said the subject of a proposed special session of Congress to deal with the European crisis was not discussed at the cabinet session.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, told reporters at Seattle that he understands the president wishes to talk with congressional leaders of both parties about the world food situation as it relates to proposed exports under the Marshall plan of aiding Europe.

Taft said he has no idea whether a special session will be discussed Monday. He said he suggested that Republican leaders of Congress meet Oct. 6 to discuss any proposals Mr. Truman makes. Taft will not be here for the meeting with the president. He will continue his western speaking tour.

Rescue Loans Urgent

The interlocked problems of food, rising prices, quick European aid and the long-range Marshall plan brought these developments:

1. Members of a commission representing the United States, Britain and France agreed to make a swift distribution to European countries of part of $330,000,000 in gold which was stolen by the Nazis. Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett, announcing the decision, said he doubts it will meet all needs for emergency help to Western Europe but it may ease France over her current money crisis.

2. Lovett said the state department has set definite figures, not yet disclosed, on the step-gain needs of Europe before the end of the year. Topping the list are Italy and France but it has not been decided whether to include Britain in this plan.

3. Mr. Truman arranged a meeting for the third consecutive day with Secretary of Agriculture Anderson as the food study intensified. And he met with Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of his council of economic advisers. Nourse said the group is studying the foreign aid problem in addition to

BENNETT WILL REMAIN HERE

Now Store Supervisor
In U. P.; Appeals
For Hearing

Transfer to a new position of one Liquor Control Commission employee and the suspension of two others went into effect yesterday at Escanaba in a "shake-up" of personnel ordered by the commission after a closed hearing here last June.

John C. Bennett of Escanaba, said that he had appealed for the Civil Service Commission for a hearing. The Bennett, manager of the U. P. Division, he "transferred" to a position comparable in grade but in which he would work under the constant supervision of a superior. Bennett has not yet been advised that a date has been set for hearing his appeal from the order.

Bennett will remain in Escanaba as store supervisor in the Upper Peninsula and his salary will remain at $360 a month.

To Clear Name
"I appealed from the order of the Liquor Commission because I want to clear my name and record," Bennett said.

Ludwick Daniels of Grand Rapids has been appointed acting manager of the U. P. Division replacing Bennett. He takes over his duties effective today. Suspensions begin today for Herbert G. Scheriff, liquor store clerk, who was suspended for one month and demoted to store clerk; and John O. Moberg, store clerk, who was suspended for three months and transferred to a job of comparable salary and a position in which he will not come in daily contact with the public.

Replacing Scheriff will be John Fisher of Escanaba, who has been with the commission since 1934 except for four years in military service, who was promoted to liquor store record clerk. No one has yet been named to succeed Moberg, although announcement of the successor is expected to be made soon.

Two other employees, William Linaker, U. P. district enforcement division, and William Valind, manager of the Escanaba retail store, resigned before the disciplinary order of the commission was announced Sept. 9.

All Are Acting
Harry Brindle of Escanaba became acting manager of the Escanaba retail liquor store and will continue as traveling manager of stores in the U. P. district.

Earl Shevell, Lansing, personnel director of the liquor control commission, yesterday said that replacements were made on an acting basis because of the appeal filed by Bennett and the possibility of other appeals to the Civil Service Commission. Shevell, Paul Chase of the civil service commission, and Sgt. Ray Katki of Traverse City, assistant commander of the Seventh District, Michigan State Police, yesterday composed a civil service board for oral interviews of applicants for the position of investigators with the liquor commission. Purpose of the interviews is to establish a civil service register from which 31 positions as investigators will be filled in Michigan.

Credit Unions Plan Meeting Saturday

A meeting of officers and directors of the four credit unions in Escanaba will be held Saturday evening at the city hall council chambers. A. W. Marble, managing director of the Michigan Credit Union League, Detroit, will be the principal speaker.

Escanaba credit unions to be represented at the meeting are the Paper Mill Credit Union, the Escanaba Municipal Employees Credit Union, the C&NW Credit unions, all federally chartered, and the Delta County Teachers Credit Union, state chartered.

The Escanaba Municipal Employees Credit Union recently was granted a revision of its charter to include all state and county employees.

ROBBER ENTERS ARCADE ALLEYS

$150 Stolen From Pin-ball Machines Early Wednesday

The Arcade bowling establishment was entered early Wednesday morning and two pin ball machines were broken and robbed of their collection of nickels, estimated at $150.

The entrance was made through a rear fire escape door sometime after the bowling alleys were closed at 12:15 a. m. A small hole was cut through the rear door and the door was opened by removing a screw driver that had been used to lock the hasp.

In addition to the quantity of nickels taken from the two pin-ball machines, a few pennies also were stolen from the cash register, all the cash that was left in the till when the establishment was closed for the night.

Discovery of the theft was made yesterday morning when the building was opened.

BRAKE REVIEWS STATE FINANCES

Taxes Will Go Higher.
Treasurer Tells C-C Forum

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake declared at a Chamber of Commerce Forum meeting last night at the Delta Hotel that the state government will need to raise from $40 to $50 millions of dollars more in the next fiscal year than is now being raised for state purposes.

Challenging his listeners to show where any substantial economies can be made in the cost of operating state government and services now paid by state funds, the state treasurer reviewed individually the various items in the state's operating budget.

Brake declared that the biggest bulge in increased state expenditures has been in the field of education, which has been increased from $14,429,000 in 1929-30 to $112,000,000 in the current fiscal year. The treasurer added that this will be increased by an additional $17 million dollars or more in the next fiscal year because of the formula established in the sales tax diversion amendment.

"The people are demanding more state services year after year," Brake charged. "There are hundreds of local delegations going to Lansing for such aid in every session of the legislature. There never is a delegation asking the legislators not to spend money, however."

The speaker particularly criticized the practice of clogging the state constitution with restrictive amendments that make the problem of financing increasingly difficult. Among these he pointed to the sales tax diversion amendment and the earmarking of gasoline taxes for highway purposes and the establishment of inflexible.

unwieldy formulas for tax distribution.

Brake declared that the sales tax amendment has provided more than $7,000,000 to townships which formerly raised only $3,100,000 by direct taxation and that several hundred of these townships raise no local taxes at all because they have surpluses in their treasuries.

Before the tax diversion amendment was adopted last fall, there were 156 school districts that levied no local taxes, Brake said, but this year there will be between 1500 and 2000 school districts that will levy no local taxes because of the financial bonanza accruing to them by the tax diversion law.

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

...with the All-Grain Flavor

For real bread enjoyment—the flavor must be in the loaf itself. You can use bread in many ways by combining it with other foods and flavors. But the real test of bread flavor is to taste the bread, undisguised—just as it comes to you in the package.

That's when you will really appreciate Betsy Ross Bread. The difference is the all-grain flavor—the homey goodness that brings back memories of long ago. Betsy Ross Bread is more than delicious—it's nourishing, too. Enriched with vitamins and iron according to U. S. Government standards—it's a bread that fulfills its mission of helping keep America strong.

SWINDLE SHEET BOTHERS RUARK

Making Out An Expense
Account In Paris
Is Problem

By ROBERT C. RUARK
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

Paris — I have been sitting around for an hour, fiddling with the old swindle sheet, trying to get it to make enough sense so my masters in New York won't scream too loud.

But you can't do it. There's no way to make sense out of a world in which commerce is figured in pesetas and soap, francs and cigarettes, lire and chewing gum.

How can you come out even if you list two packs of butts at 35 cents when those two packs will feed a family for a week or buy the services of a courtesan as a housemaid? When you're listing, at the same time, a lunch for two that costs $20 because the food is figured on the black market and your exchange, legally is 120 francs to the buck? You've bought a good three-dollar lunch for $20, and will the people in the office purse their lips, and wonder if Ruark has gone mad, eating $20 lunches?

Problem in Arithmetic
I have been trying to translate excess baggage on the airplane in terms of soap and toilet paper, with the fare bought in British pounds in an African community which won't allow the ticket to be sold for francs.

Let us attempt a simple sum. If John has two apples—black market apples, of course—how much is a cake of soap worth if there is no soap in John's community? If a cake of soap is worth as much as a bar of bullion, am I not a chump to put down: "One Ck. Sp.—10 cents?"

A pound is a pound is a pound is four bucks in England but three bucks in Tangiers, and a Parisian franc comes 120 to the dollar but a franc in the U. S. might come out 425 and it might be 250 in Tangier and 180 in Algiers and it's illegal to go around making bargains in money and they will put you in jail if they catch you and who wants to go to jail? But how can you be moral in an atmosphere where the bank manager advises you to go round the corner to change your dollars because he has his personal representative working the beat there?

What's Cigarettes Worth?
Try that on your whistle, O guardians of my honesty in the swindle sheet department. Assay for me the value in your annual statement of one cigarette, if it is worth a bale of German marks or a bundle of lire. Item on my expense account: "3 packs Luckies to Italian customs official—$75." I really should have charged $50 each, because who knows what the official might have found if he'd probed deeper into my suitcase?

What column in the ledger, my masters all, does "bribe" come under? Shall I put it down to incidentals? Or maybe entertainment, or miscellaneous? Bribe is a horrid word, and I should have my mouth washed out with soap for using it, but soap is so rare in much of Europe that maybe in the future we will have to wash our mouths with local currency.

If a man travelling on company business can't get his laundry done because he has no soap, is he justified in throwing away his clothing and buying new ones each week? In that case, can I list my soap as the equivalent of six shirts at $5 each, six suits of underwear, six pairs of socks, and six handkerchiefs? A tidy sum each week, gentlemen, a tidy sum indeed.

Go ask the brilliant alumni of Bretton Woods about soap and cigarettes and bars of sugar and chiclets. Ask them how you can protect the integrity of the common laundry soap outside the soap bloc area.

I am going to fire in my swindle one of these days, gentlemen, but I warn you that you will be able to make nothing of it. It will be set down in pesetas and lire and pounds and francs and chewing gum and cigarettes. There will be days of expensive living listed because of failure to bribe, and huge savings because of shall we say, foresight? There will be service charges and little vague items about which I will tell you when there are no witnesses present.

I wish you joy of my expense account, you knights of the goose-quill and red ink. It should revolutionize the science of accounting, and will probably drive you mad.

Petkov Executed

NIKOLA PETKOV, Bulgarian peasant leader, outspoken foe of the Communist government in Bulgaria, was executed Tuesday morning because he dared to speak up in denunciation of Communist rule. Overtly Petkov was executed for plotting to overthrow the Communist government, a charge which he steadfastly denied.

This is a stock accusation by Communist governments against men whom the Reds seek to dispose. It is a simple but effective means of getting rid of political opponents and the Communists have used it with great success in Russia, Yugoslavia, Poland and, in fact, in every country where Communists have taken over control of the government. In Communist-dominated lands, you're either for the Communist leadership—or else. Petkov was fully aware of this situation but he had the courage to speak up in protest. It cost him his life, as he knew that it would.

The execution of Petkov, whose only crime was leadership of a political party that believed in the principals of democracy, only serves to emphasize the brutality of Communistic rule. First the Communists dissolved Petkov's Agrarian party and all other opposition groups and then it proceeded to eliminate the leaders of those parties.

The American government sought in vain to delay the execution of Petkov in a series of protests that were ignored. Further denunciations of the execution will also be ignored by the Bulgarian Communists, who make no real effort to hide their pet scheme of getting rid of political antagonists.

EST Zone Expands

THE decision of the City of Gladstone to remain on fast time the year around, conforming to the action taken previously by the City of Escanaba, eliminates the possibility of a situation that might have been greatly confusing and suggests the probability that the eastern time belt will be extended throughout Delta county.

There is little hope that the entire Upper Peninsula will operate on eastern time the year around for some years in the future, if ever, but it is significant that the eastern time belt is gradually being extended to include an increasingly greater percentage of the area. All the territory from Escanaba eastward to the Straits and to Sault Ste. Marie as well as the Copper Country in the northwest part of the peninsula now operates on eastern standard, or so-called fast time, the year around.

The two eastern time areas in the peninsula are now separated from each other only by Marquette and Alger counties. Eventually these two counties may see fit to join the eastern time zone, leaving only the Upper Peninsula counties that are adjacent to Wisconsin remaining on central standard time.

Because of their close relationship with Wisconsin, where central time is fixed by state law, it is doubtful that the U. P. counties adjacent to Wisconsin will switch to fast time for year around operation. Some of them, however, have shown considerable interest in daylight savings time for summer months at various times in past years.

Counties in Red

THE report of Auditor General M. K. A. Ten reveals that county governments throughout Michigan operated in the red to the extent of $8,511,753 last year. This debt is in addition to the debts created by many county governments in previous years.

County governments had more money available in the past year, $10,495,506 more than the previous year, but their costs increased in greater proportion, $19,300,000 more than the previous year. Michigan counties received a total of $80,904,160 in revenues from all sources during the year and spent $89,415,913. This means then that counties will either have to reduce their costs of operation, find new sources of revenue, or go further into debt.

The report of the auditor general on the financial situation of county governments shows once more the inequitable distribution of state sales tax revenue under the recently enacted diversion amendment. A nice chunk of money goes to township governments to increase their treasury surpluses while county governments go further and further into the red.

Prices and Politics

WHILE the Federal Trade Commission accused the steel industry of fixing prices and strangling competition, and when the Justice Department went after the tire industry on the same charge, it might have seemed that the government was moving swiftly in its campaign against high prices. After all, these actions came less than a week after Attorney General Clark had announced that he was sending his boys on the warpath.

But, much as one might wish that this were the beginning of an all-out drive in the battle against inflation, there is some evidence to the contrary. In the first place, Mr. Clark said the price-fixing investigation was to be in the fields of food, housing and clothing. And, while the two products now under investigation may be factors affecting prices in those fields, the present government actions could scarcely be called a frontal attack.

The rise in steel prices gives our economy another boost toward serious inflation. That is apparent without arguing the merits or necessity of the rise. However, the "basing point" pricing system which the FTC is objecting to is neither new nor confined to the steel industry. It is used in most industries whose products are low-priced and heavy.

Back in 1921 the Justice Department brought a price-fixing action against the cement industry under the Sherman Act, and lost the case in the Supreme Court four years later. In 1945 the Justice Department brought a similar suit against the same industry, again under the Sherman Act. Meanwhile, in 1937, the FTC filed a complaint against the cement makers and their "basing point" system.

A cease-and-desist order issued by the FTC in 1943 was vacated last year by the Seventh Federal District Court of Appeals. The court ruled that the absorption of freight costs and identical delivery prices under this system were not evidence of conspiracy, but rather of true competition. It is conceivable that the steel case might follow the same pattern. The mills of the law will grind slowly, and the issues will not become any clearer in the process.

High prices are the big political issue of the moment, and they promise to remain so until the next election. The shape of things to come is apparent. Both Mr. Clark and Senator Taft are looking into the price situation. But one might suspect that each has already picked his own particular scapegoat.

What the attorney general and the senator believe now, might develop into the major parties' policies on high prices. It would not be surprising to see the Democratic big guns turned on business from now until November, 1948, firing charges of price-fixing, collusion and exorbitant profits. The Republicans might respond with the accusation that strikes, low production and union demands for increasingly higher wages exert the greatest inflationary pressure.

It may be hoped that this does not come about. The serious problem of rising prices should be tackled as a whole, and with unified effort. If, instead, it becomes a matter of partisan debate, with charges growing more emotional and reckless as Election Day draws nearer, then we shall probably be in for a bad time indeed.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

(Marionette Eagle-Star)

Motorists are constantly being alerted against traffic accidents and especially the dangers involved with children on bicycles. But even the most careful motorist is at wit's ends, on occasions, when a careless bicyclist gets into his path.

Parents of bicycle-riding children can contribute to the campaign of safety by impressing upon their offspring the need for being on guard at all times. Riding single file is one of the rules of safety and avoiding any swerving in and out of traffic lanes is another. A cardinal rule that is being constantly violated is that of riding bicycles at night without either tail or front lights.

The hazards in traffic are greater now than ever before. More automobiles and trucks are being operated and more bicycles are in use. The combination of the two obviously creates a condition that stresses more precautions on the part of both the motorists and the bike riders.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

It was recently announced that Princess Elizabeth's fiancé, formerly known as Prince Philip of Greece, has assumed the surname of his uncle, Lord Louis Mountbatten. The young man is now known as Lieut. Philip Mountbatten.

Prior to 1917, Lord Louis Mountbatten, an admiral in the British navy, was known as Prince Louis Francis Albert Victor Nicholas of Battenberg. (Battenberg was the name of a family of German counts.)

Before the close of World War I, probably because of public hatred of Germany and things German, King George V requested the family of Battenberg who lived in England to renounce the German title of prince of Battenberg and to adopt the surname of Mountbatten.

This was done to everyone's complete satisfaction. But the name changing has an element of tongue-in-cheek to it, that I feel sure, has escaped the notice of the average British subject, for Mountbatten is nothing but the English translation of Battenberg. Berg in German means "mount," hence Battenberg (Batten mount) and Mountbatten (mount Batten) are not

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Athens, Greece—Politics is the only luxury left to the people of Greece. It is their sport, their recreation, their art—everything.

A session of the Greek parliament combines the excitements of a bull fight, a football game, and opera in the grand style. Partisans pack the boxes and the galleries. The dramatic entrance of each leader is cheered with wild enthusiasm.

The ladies of Athens attend in their smartest clothes, wearing gloves and hats which one almost never sees on women in the streets. They applaud with a fervor that in the United States might be accorded to a combination of Lily Pons and Bob Feller.

The Greek passion for politics is carried to the point of pathology. The contrast with a country such as Switzerland is startling. The Swiss are careful, cautious managers who feel that they can hardly afford political controversy; the average Swiss could not tell you the name of the president of Switzerland.

—HARD TO FIGURE OUT—
Here even minor politicians are national heroes, each with a personal following giving unquestioning loyalty. The political feuds have ancient roots, and when the outsider tries to untangle them he finds himself in a bewildering maze of complications. This is one of the difficulties the American Aid Mission to Greece has encountered in trying to bring some order and direction to a nation close to chaos.

It explains why so much hope is pinned on the head of the new government, Themistocles Sophoulis. At 86 Sophoulis is both symbol and hero. Repeatedly through the upheavals of the past 40 years he has maintained his integrity.

Living simply in a modest villa in a near-by suburb, Sophoulis has never enriched himself as some Greek politicians have. He has a ready sense of humor and a twinkle in his eye. A crowded press conference that brings many questions from reporters of various nationalities does not ruffle him. He is a Republican but in no sense a Socialist.

If he can make the mass of the people believe in his good intentions and end the civil strife, then he will have made himself one of the greatest figures in modern Greek history and all the western world will be in his debt. It is a heavy responsibility to put on a man of such advanced years.

—MANY POLITICAL DIFFERENCES—
The pathology of Greek politics is a grim object lesson. It is not a matter merely of corruption. Greece is not unique in having had corrupt politicians. The pathology is that of individualism run wild so that wherever more than two Greeks are gathered, there you have a political party.

It was the fractionizing and the splitting off that in the years between the wars made Greek political life a shambles. Most serious of all, this splitting off was a perfect opening for the Communists. With a dozen seats in the parliament, they often held the balance of power and they exploited their advantage of the utmost.

With leaders trained in Moscow, such as the brilliant and ruthless Nicholas Zachariades, believed now to be in Yugoslavia or Albania ready to head a "Free Government" of Greece, they made a mockery of parliamentary procedure. It was the perfect opportunity so long as orders from Moscow held the party to the use of peaceful rather than revolutionary means to gain power.

In the trade unions the same kind of splitting off occurred. It went so far it became a cancerous growth protected by a mistaken law granting a trade-union charter to any seven members of any union.

Before the Metaxas dictatorship there were 600 unions. In 1940 the number was 1,400. Today it is 2,200. At one time 15 separate federations of unions existed. A union of orphans and a union of retired dancing instructors are among the more ludicrous outgrowths.

Under the law any individual can get the state to intervene in a trade-union dispute. Here, too, was an opening ready-made for the Communists and they were not slow in exploiting it. It will take years to get Greek unions back on a sound foundation. Fortunately, the International Labor office is shortly sending a mission to Greece to help straighten out the tangle of laws that seem to have done more harm than good.

No people could possibly afford the luxury of the kind of politics Greece has had in recent years. It was individualism run riot and the result may still be collective disaster.

much more different than Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

Lafayette: During a recent broadcast, President Truman referred to Jefferson's home, Monticello, as "mon-ti-CHELL-oh." Was he correct?—Mrs. M. R.

Answer: When Thomas Jefferson built his lovely home he chose for its site a wooded hill, hence the name Monticello, which is Italian for "little mount."

Monticello in Italian is pronounced MONE-tee-CHELL-oh (first syllable rhymes with "bone" cone). The "chell" is often heard in America, and it has the sanction of the dictionary which pronounces Monticello as "MON-ti-SELL-oh or MON-ti-CHELL-oh."

Survival of the "chell" after so many years would seem to be pretty good evidence that Jefferson himself preferred it.

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler

LABOR RELATIONS—In the long ago days when work days and the work week were set by management to obtain as much production as possible at the lowest cost, the labor relations expert was unheard of. It is true that many men in management believed they knew as much about labor, and what was good for labor, as labor itself. That they were often mistaken was material. If labor didn't like it, it could lump it. Sometimes it did and if they all walked out it was called a strike. This was very popular and management said strikes were anarchy, revolution, and bolshevistic. Management seldom thought of examining its own shortcomings to attain a better relationship with employees.

The above is preliminary to introducing Urban C. Rummel of Clintonville, Wis., who is a labor relations expert employed in personnel work for the Four-Wheel Drive company. Rummel looks like a decisive character who could be either a union organizer or the president of a corporation. He is a graduate of Lawrence College, of the University of Michigan, and of Marquette University law school.

BY LEGISLATION—Rummel spoke to the Escanaba Rotary club last Monday and for the most part traced the control of labor and management by legislation. This might be called enforced labor relations by law, and with teeth to bite the violator. According to Rummel most of the bite so far has been put on management.

But he has small sympathy with management that is so short-sighted it will not support legislation to control union abuses, and enters into agreements and pledges circumventing the law. He charged that management had done this in violation of the recent and highly controversial Taft-Hartley Bill.

Rummel presented his material objectively and with a minimum of bias. That he was not particularly analytical may have been because of the limited time at his disposal. Labor relations and labor legislation is a subject that can, and has, been discussed for days on end.

LABOR POLICY—Until the Taft-Hartley bill the nation had not had "the slightest semblance of labor policy," Rummel said. He briefly outlined labor legislation history as follows:

About 1884 the Bureau of Labor Statistics was set up for the purpose of compiling data and information on wage scales in various communities of the United States.

The first labor law was the Sherman Anti-Trust Law passed about 1890. The supreme court ruled that it applied to labor as well as industry for the purpose of controlling monopolies and trusts. Various efforts were made to exempt labor from equal responsibility with industry in creating monopolies.

Then in 1932 came the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act and the courts no longer had the power to enjoin unions against monopolistic acts. The New Deal era followed, Rummel said, and for more than a decade "labor has been dealt all of the aces, and management got only the three-card straights."

The Wagner Act of 1935 guaranteed labor the right to organize without interference from management. Rummel says the act was all right, but the decisions made under it by the National Labor Relations Board "never found an unfair practice on the part of labor." He cited as an example the Wisconsin manager of an industry who was ordered to stay away from a tavern where he was in the habit of buying a bottle of beer. The reason? Because the union leaders met there for conferences and accused the industrial leader of "spying" on them. Another sample decision was that management cannot post a wage raise on a bulletin board but must let the wage boost announcement come from union leaders.

The Social Security Act of 1935 (or was it '36) was "thoroughly sound legislation." In 1937 there was the wage-hour law. In 1942 at the beginning of the war "congress gave up its sovereign power when it gave the president complete power over wages in the War Labor Board." The War Labor Board's approach to labor and management showed "reasoning as unbiased as a baseball fan in Brooklyn."

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago

Hollywood Funeral services for Ruth Roland, silent-movie serial queen, will be held tomorrow. David Rubinoff, violinist; Salvador Santaella, pianist; and Donald Novis, vocalist, will render music of the Christian Science rites.

Gladstone—Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier, pastor of All Saints church, returned from a two month tour of Europe this week. During his trip abroad Father Maier had audience with Pope Pius XI in Rome and celebrated mass in the Catacombs.

Marquette—George Shiras III, well known resident of Marquette, has given $100,000 for creation of the Shiras Institute for development of recreational facilities and beautification of Marquette.

Paris—The soviet proposals on debt payments and merchandise credit upon which the declaration was made in Moscow that French and soviet delegates agreed were delivered in Paris tonight.

Geneva—Resumption of the League of Nations disarmament has been provisionally set for Dec. 1.

New York—The fatal seventh round of the Tunney-Dempsey fight was too much for three radio listeners. They died during the seventh round and four others succumbed during the fight—one man while he was arguing about the outcome of the fistfight meet.

anted labor the right to organize without interference from management. Rummel says the act was all right, but the decisions made under it by the National Labor Relations Board "never found an unfair practice on the part of labor." He cited as an example the Wisconsin manager of an industry who was ordered to stay away from a tavern where he was in the habit of buying a bottle of beer. The reason? Because the union leaders met there for conferences and accused the industrial leader of "spying" on them. Another sample decision was that management cannot post a wage raise on a bulletin board but must let the wage boost announcement come from union leaders.

The Social Security Act of 1935 (or was it '36) was "thoroughly sound legislation." In 1937 there was the wage-hour law. In 1942 at the beginning of the war "congress gave up its sovereign power when it gave the president complete power over wages in the War Labor Board." The War Labor Board's approach to labor and management showed "reasoning as unbiased as a baseball fan in Brooklyn."

WITH POLITICS—Rummel said that national politics has played its part in labor legislation. He cited the late President Roosevelt's veto of a law that made strikes in war industries illegal, although the president had asked for the law himself. The veto was the year before the presidential election.

"The Taft-Hartley Bill came the year before a presidential election, which is probably the reason it is so badly written," Rummel said. "I believe any lawyer in Escanaba could have made a more clear-cut definition of what the people of America wanted in the matter of a national labor policy."

Good and bad are incorporated in the Taft-Hartley Bill, Rummel believes. There will be many tests of the bill, by strikes and in the courts, he declared. At least one section, that requiring unions to register so that Communists will be exposed, he believes to be unconstitutional. "Why pick on labor? Why not make all of busi-

Washington—A two million dollar kitty will be voted at the San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor Oct. 6 to launch the AFL's campaign to defeat members of Congress who supported the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

Question troubling AFL leaders is how to spend the money without violating the Taft-Hartley act which prohibits a labor union from using union dues for political activity. Here is how AFL moguls plan to do it:

The two million dollars will be spent in a so-called press and radio "educational program" to acquaint the American public with the great strides made by labor and industry under the Wagner act, now supplanted by the restrictive Taft-Hartley act. Meanwhile, augmenting this national publicity drive, the AFL will send speakers into the districts of every congressman who supported the Taft-Hartley bill to stump against him for re-election. The expenses of these stump speakers will be financed entirely by voluntary collections taken up at meetings where the speakers appear.

—U. S. WORRIES OVER ITALY—
Behind Secretary Marshall's urgent demands that a special session of congress be called to vote relief funds for Europe are some triple-urgent cables received from his ambassador in Rome, James C. Dunn, warning that Communist revolt is imminent.

The De Gasperi government in Italy was formed with no Communists represented in the cabinet. And although it was kept a strict diplomatic secret, this was done on the specific recommendation of the American embassy. Because of this the entire prestige of the United States is staked on keeping the De Gasperi government in power.

Meanwhile, a top secret U. S. Army intelligence report gives startling details of the Communist plan to seize Italy. For some time, U. S. intelligence agents have been working to ferret out the underground network of Communists which the Russians have carefully planted to take over Italy at the appropriate time. Presumably this would be when U. S. troops are withdrawn—on Dec. 15—and when the Italian food and fuel crisis reaches the winter climax.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of the secret U. S. intelligence report and pertinent parts of it follow:

"The partisan railway police (in Bologna) has at its disposal 1,300 men, all armed with tommyguns and pistols. The corps is also equipped with heavy weapons kept at the commands, 5 trucks, two autos, and several motorcycles. Ildebrando Brighetti, alias Brando, is commander of the railway police. He is in a position to dispose of 70 motor vehicles of the FFSS, autopark as well as 80 motor vehicles of the UNRRA autopark."

"The provincial military commander of Bologna is thought to be Ilio Barontini and the probable chief of staff, General Francesco Zani. Dozza, Bottonelli, Betti, Gianquinto Borghesi, and Verenne Grazia belong to the provincial military command with assignments not yet specified. Two Russian officers, one of whom lives with Dozza and the other with Colombi are thought to carry on consultative functions in the provincial command."

"Bologna mobilization center (for the Communist revolt) is the city railway police headquarters. Arms and ammunition depots are at the headquarters of the railway police. Units include:

"Red Star" brigade, Commander Marine Mongiori, residing at Borgo Panigala.
"Santa Justa" brigade, Commander Romeo Galli, residing at Sasso Marconi.
"Paolo" brigade, Commander, Borghi.
"36th Bianconini" brigade, Commander, Golenelli, residing at Imola.
"There are understood to be three other brigades: 'Irma Bandiera,' '62nd Garibaldi,' 'Justice and Liberty.'

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

Friends of ex-Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia are quietly preparing a vice-presidential buildup . . . Columnist Edgar Mowrer, when asked how he got along with Russian Delegate Vishinsky, replied: "Perfectly. He talks just like Hitler and I had no difficulty understanding him at once." . . . One soldier who has really beaten his sword into ploughshares is General Levin H. Campbell, who did a superb job of turning out army ordnance during the war and is now vice president of International Harvester company. Last week in Montana he witnessed first hand how his newly-manufactured combines were harvesting wheat for Europe . . . Radio networks, which have been clamoring for the right to broadcast sessions of congress, are allowed to cover every phase of United Nations debates but rarely use the opportunity . . . Biggest complaint Indian Delegate Mme. Pandit has about life in Moscow, where she serves as ambassador, is that you can't get enough green vegetables. When her plane to New York stopped in Stockholm, Mme. Pandit promptly bought a cauliflower.

It's just that much harder to learn anything when you know you know it all.

Too few people strain their eyes looking on the bright side of things.

A 13-year-old Tennessee girl posed as 19. Probably just what she'll be doing when she is thirty-five!

Some of the winter styles look so sensible they probably won't be very popular.

Man's objection to the thought of coming fall is that it's a reminder of housecleaning time.

Q. Where did the "Devil Worshippers" hold forth?

A. In Russian and Turkish Armenia, the valley of the Tigris, and elsewhere in the Near East. They were known as "Jesids," named after Jesu, their founder. They proved to be the rising sun worshipped Allah, revered Mohammed, and deemed Christ a great angel ("the son of light"). Their chief concern was to appease Shaitan, the devil, whose name they never uttered. Thursday was their Sabbath. In the spring they fasted for 40 days; their children were baptized; their ecclesiastics consisted of sheikhs, fakirs and dirts (elders) hated the color blue; showed the greatest respect to women; and buried the dead with the face turned toward the pole-star.

Q. Must I pay any charges to obtain a guaranteed or insured GI loan?

A. No. Commission, brokerage, and other similar charges may not legally be made against the veteran obtaining a guaranteed or insured loan. However, customary out-of-pocket fees, charges against all borrowers, as appraisal and title examination fees and other costs and expenses against the lender may charge against the veteran.

Q. Can you tell me how to let out the hemline of a cotton dress without its showing?

A. Repeated washings, especially soaking for awhile before the washing, then scrubbing the hemline with brush and soap.

Q. What is the origin of the word "almanac"?

A. It is of ancient Arabic origin. Originally it was "Al Manakh" meaning the weather or the climate.

ness register too?"

"The feature attaching responsibility to unions and union contracts is good, Rummel said. It was included because the people of the country wanted it and congress gave them what they wanted."

"What makes me boiling mad is to see manufacturers sign contracts which circumvent the law," Rummel said. "It is directly contrary to the temper of the people and contrary to what the manufacturers themselves asked for."

The future? One of union rivalries, strikes, court tests, unrest, boycotts and ruinous demands—unless labor and management learn to work with and respect the law, Rummel believes.

Teckla Pinozek Lee McMillan Exchange Vows

In a wedding service at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning marked by the utmost simplicity Miss Teckla Pinozek, daughter of John Pinozek, of Ford River, and Lee McMillan, a son of Mrs. Ethel McMillan, of this city, spoke their marriage vows.

Rev. Fr. Howard Drolet officiated at the six o'clock wedding mass.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Edwina Hanrahan and Donald McMillan, a brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a suit of autumn brown with accessories of the same shade and a corsage of bronze flowers. Mrs. Hanrahan's suit was gray and her corsage was of contrasting flowers.

A wedding breakfast for members of the two families was served at the House of Ludington. Mr. McMillan and his bride, following a honeymoon in Chicago, will live in Escanaba at 227 North 15th street.

The former Miss Pinozek is secretary to the elementary principals in the Escanaba public school system. Her husband is dock agent for the Chicago & Northwestern ore docks in Escanaba.

Today's Recipes

Mrs. Arthur Sodermark, of Bark River, Route One, sends the department her recipe for chili, one she has used many times and finds very good. Mrs. Sodermark suggests that in making it, the amount of cayenne pepper used, be varied, to suit the individual's taste.

Chili Sauce
4 quarts ripe tomatoes
1 cup onions
3 sweet red peppers
3 sweet green peppers
1 cup white sugar
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup vinegar
1½ teaspoons each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice and cayenne pepper.

Thomas L. Thomas' Career Is Typical American Success Story

The life of Thomas L. Thomas, distinguished baritone, whose appearance in Escanaba on January 13 will be a high-light of the 1947-48 Town Hall concert season, represents the typical success story of an immigrant boy who found the opportunity to build a career in America.

He was born in Maesteg, South Wales, a community in which the Welsh inborn traditional appreciation of music was a leading characteristic. The town of perhaps 5,000 population, had its own local orchestra, two oratorio societies and numerous church choirs, and from the age of four on, young Thomas was a faithful visitor at both rehearsals and performances.

When he was 11, the family migrated to America, and settled in Scranton, where Thomas continued singing in amateur performances throughout elementary and high school. He went through Johnson Technical School, prepared himself as a mechanical engineer and draftsman, and entered business. At 22 he was an assistant executive in an engineering firm. He kept on singing, however, as a means of recreation. And then the lure of music grew too much for him.

He went to New York, sang in various church choirs, and began a difficult attack on the air waves, by way of ensemble groups. His first solo spot came after 96 auditions. Each time the young candidate's voice and musicianship earned praise, and each time the praise founded on the question, "Yes, but who is he? Nobody has ever heard of him." It was then that young Thomas determined to make himself both heard and known. That was some two years ago.

Today Thomas L. Thomas has won the admiration of millions. Best known for his major broadcasts over all of the major networks, he also has earned distinction as a recitalist and through his recordings. His concert is one of five numbers booked for the season. Season tickets are now being sold by members of a special committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring Town Hall. Anyone not contacted by the committee may secure tickets by calling Don Guindon, secretary-treasurer of the Junior organization.

Mrs. Homer Glasgow, who is leaving soon for her former home in Clarendon, Texas, was the guest of honor at a dinner party at which the Needlework club of which she is a member, entertained at the Dells Tuesday evening. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock with places for eleven guests. Flowers and matching tapers formed the centerpiece. Mrs. Glasgow was presented with a farewell gift.

Combine vegetables with sugar and salt and let cook until mixture begins to thicken. Then add rest of ingredients and continue cooking until mixture is a thick sauce. Seal in sterilized jars.

A reader asked yesterday for a recipe for sweet mixed pickles. If this is in your collection of recipes, the department will appreciate having it.

FOREST FIRE SURVEY MADE

Tanker Unit, Plow To Be Demonstrated This Week

In an effort to provide maximum efficiency in forest fire fighting by the use of most modern approved methods and equipment, officials of the U. S. Forest Service and Michigan department of conservation are conducting a fire equipment survey and inspection in Hiawatha National Forest this week.

They are on a tour of all national forests in the Great Lakes states and will be in Racine for a demonstration next Saturday and in Munising and Rapid River next Sunday.

They will spend Sunday night in Escanaba. Members of the survey party are Gilbert Stewart, director of the state conservation department's forest fire control station at Roscommon; Einar Aamodt, equipment engineer at Roscommon; Guerdon L. Dimmick, representative of the division of state and private forestry of the U. S. Forest Service regional office in Milwaukee.

At Racine they will be met by Arthur Schafer fire control officer of the Upper Michigan National Forest, which includes Hiawatha National Forest.

The group will demonstrate use of the half-ton pickup truck with a light slip-on tanker unit and a light trailer with plow under simulated actual fire fighting conditions.

The purpose of the survey, it was pointed out here yesterday, is to determine the use of present fire equipment and what additional equipment may be needed to provide maximum efficiency and safety.

JURY RETURNS OPEN VERDICT

No Decision Arrived At In Trudell Inquest Wednesday

A coroner's jury investigating the accidental death of Marilyn Trudell, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Trudell, 227 Delta avenue, Gladstone, which occurred Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock, yesterday returned an open verdict after hearing testimony of a dozen witnesses.

In effect, the open verdict failed to arrive at any conclusion regarding the cause of the child's death. Kenneth E. Walker, driver of the automobile that collided with a car driven by Fabian DeLaruelle, in which the Trudell child was a passenger, did not testify at the inquest.

Members of the jury were W. H. Call, foreman; Frank Rademacher, Joseph Richards, Art Kuhley, George Powell and J. A. Colbert.

Service Clubs To Hold Joint Session On Monday Evening

Members of the Escanaba Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will meet in joint session Monday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Sherman hotel dining room to hear V. S. Peterson, widely-known speaker on chemical progress as it affects the average American. All members of the three clubs are expected to attend the dinner meeting.

Peterson will talk on "Research and Better Living" and will demonstrate several scores of the newest developments of modern chemical research, some of them yet to be publicly introduced. He is district manager of the extension division of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company, with headquarters in Ames, Iowa.

A graduate in agricultural engineering of Kansas State college, he has served as agricultural extension engineer in Iowa and Pennsylvania, and as engineering technician and acting director of the Iowa U. S. Forest Service CCC camps. He was also state administrator of soil conservation in Indiana.

Peterson has served on several committees of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and is, at present, chairman of its committee on farm and home safety. He is a member of many farm organizations.

POWERS YOUTH POLIO VICTIM

Irving Hansen Is Taken To Marquette Hospital

Menominee county's first poliomyelitis reported this year struck last weekend in Powers when Irving Hansen was stricken. The youth was taken to St. Luke's hospital in Marquette for treatment. The case is reported a mild one by Dr. Charles P. Drury, Marquette city health officer.

The Menominee county case raised to four the number of cases in the U. P., two of the others being from Marquette county and the fourth from Ontonagon county. Dr. Drury said conditions in the U. P. were "very favorable," as compared to the lower peninsula where infantile paralysis is increasing. However, the Michigan Department of Health reports that while cases are increasing in the lower peninsula the disease has not yet reached epidemic proportions.

In the entire state, the report said, a total of 295 cases were reported this year compared with 501 for the same period last year. Fatalities this year have been fewer than last year and less than one-third of the cases have resulted in paralysis.

Polio Cases Continue

Washington—Infantile Paralysis cases in the nation jumped to 958 for the week ending Sept.

13, latest figures reported to the U. S. Public Health Service here show. The increase from 826 cases for the preceding week surprised public health officials for the second straight week, as they had expected the disease to start declining.

States leading the current increase are New York which rose from 95 cases for the preceding to 129, Pennsylvania which increased from 33 cases to 65, Ohio from 195 to 213, Illinois from 87 to 106, Michigan from 45 to 70, Indiana from 28 to 33 and Massachusetts from 34 to 43.

Ethiopia Buys 16 Swedish Bombers

Stockholm (AP)—The government of Ethiopia has bought 16 bombers from the Swedish air force to be delivered this month.

The bombers are light two-seaters built in Linköping for the Swedish air force but now discarded for war use.

Swedish military pilots will fly the planes to Ethiopia, whose air chief, the Swedish Count Carl Gustav von Rosen, is expected in Sweden shortly to supervise the delivery.

Bishop Noa Installed By Cardinal Mooney

Marquette—A thronged Cathedral witnessed Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit and Metropolitan of the Michigan Province install the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D. D., as 8th Ordinary of the Diocese of Marquette.

The program was broadcast to all parts of the Diocese by the Rev. Fr. Bruno Bourgeois, Pastor of St. Bruno church, Nadeau, beginning at 9:45 a. m., Wednesday morning, Sept. 24.

Bishop Noa is the successor to the late Most Rev. Francis J. Magner, D. D., who died on June 13, 1947. He is the eighth Bishop to rule Marquette in its 94 years of existence.

The installation program began at 9:45 a. m. when the church bells pealed forth the commencement hour. The procession of the visiting and Diocesan clergy, formed in Baraga school, was first to wend its way into St. Peter's Cathedral to the tune of an organ procession. Immediately following the priests came the visiting Monsignors, Abbots and Bishops. As they entered the Cathedral the choir sang "Herman Malin's 'Let All Together Praise Our God'."

Bishop Noa's Procession
To the singing of Singenberger's "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus" by the Cathedral choir, Bishop Noa and his attendants were next to enter the Cathedral and proceed to the altar of the Blessed Sacrament. He was accompanied by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John T. Holland, Rector of the Cathedral, assisting priest, Monsignors Jodey and Raymond were his chaplains and Fr. Louis Brackett the Coadjutor. The Rev. Emil J. Beyer acted as master of ceremonies. After making his adoration Bishop Noa took his place in the sanctuary to await the arrival of Cardinal Mooney and his court.

Edward Cardinal Mooney, installing Prelate, entered the Cathedral accompanied by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zyrd, assisting priest, who proffered him the incense and Holy water at the Cathedral door. Monsignors Dittman and Mortanarity were chaplains to His Eminence. Rev. John Donovan acted as master of ceremonies and Fr. George Perski, assistant at the Cathedral, was Coadjutor. The Rev. Fr. Chester Franczek carried the Metropolitan Cross. An organ-trumpet March announced the arrival to all assembled. When the Cardinal reached the Sanctuary and made his adoration the Cathedral male chorus sang a traditional "Oremus Pro Pontifice."

As soon as Cardinal Mooney was seated at his throne the master of ceremonies handed him the documents of appointment of Bishop Noa to the See of Marquette, who in turn passed them on to the Rev. Fr. Robert Chisholm, Notary, who entered the pulpit and read an English translation of the documents.

At the conclusion of this public reading of the notice of appointment Cardinal Mooney arose, went to Bishop Noa, took him by the hand and led him to his throne, placing the cross—symbol of authority—in his hand. The Cardinal then returned to his own throne at the Epistle side of the altar.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John T. Holland, Rector of the Cathedral, wearing a white cope, then went to the Epistle side of the altar and facing Bishop Noa sang the "Protectio Noster Aspicere Deum" etc., with oration.

Representatives of the Diocesan clergy, the Consultors and Deans, then came to Bishop Noa's throne, knelt, kissed his hand in signification of their obedience to him.

When this was completed Bishop Noa arose, descended from his throne and after bowing to the Cardinal and Prelate present, proceeded to the altar, accompanied by his deacons. Kissing the altar he passed to the book at the Epistle side. The choir intoned the antiphon and versicle of the Titular Saint of the Cathedral, St. Peter, after which Bishop Noa sang the oration. This concluded he received from the master of ceremonies his mitre and immediately intoned the "Sit Nomen Domini Benedictum." Accepting his crozier he gave his first blessing to the assembly.

Cardinal Speaks
As soon as Bishop Noa was seated at his throne Cardinal Mooney addressed the clergy and laity. Bishop Noa then responded with an address.

Returning to his throne, Bishop Noa removed his cope and vesting the Cappa Magna prepared to assist at the installation Mass. Bishop Francis J. Haas, Ordinary of Grand Rapids, offered the Mass. Very Rev. Joseph E. Guertin was the Deacon, Rev. A. C. Pellissier, Sub-deacon, Very Rev. George LaForest was assisting priest. Fathers Dunleavy and Matejick were masters of ceremonies.

Minor officers of the Mass were taken from among the junior diocesan clergy. Cathedral parish altar boys were torch bearers.

Choir Program
The Cathedral choir, under the direction of the Rev. Fr. Alderic Paquet and accompanied at the organ by Miss Patricia Arenz, rendered the musical program.

The Baraga school choir was under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph. A special priest choir prepared and rendered the Propers of the Mass. Donald Bath, Thomas Keough and John Kroken, students at the Northern Michigan College of Education, were the trumpeters.

As escort of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, led by Supreme Director Gervase T. Murphy, Calumet, and Master of the Upper Michigan District, Patrick L. Bennett, Marquette, the U. P. assemblies added pomp and majesty to the day's ceremonial.

Banquet for Clergy
Following the Mass dinner was served the Prelate, Monsignor and clergy in Cathedral Hall. Msgr. John T. Holland was toastmaster and on the speaking program were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zyrd, Bishop Noa and Cardinal Mooney. An orchestra played dinner music.

Dignitaries Present
Besides the Diocesan clergy, Venerable Sisters and lay people present for the installation the following Bishops and Monsignors from outside the Diocese were present: His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit; Bishop Francis J. Haas, Grand Rapids; Bishop Joseph H. Albers, Lansing; Bishop William F. Murphy, Saginaw; Auxiliary Bishop Stephen Woznicki, Detroit; Auxiliary Bishop Allen J. Babcock, Detroit; Bishop Stanislaus Bona, Green Bay; Bishop Albert Meyers, Superior; Bishop William O'Connor, Madison, Wis.; Bishop Thomas A. Welch, Duluth; Bishop Gerald T. Bergan, Des Moines; Auxiliary Bishop Edward A. Fitzgerald, Dubuque; Auxiliary Bishop Roman Atkieski, Milwaukee; Co-adjutor Abbot E. M. Killen, O. Pream, West De Pere, Wisconsin.

Monsignors Present were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Groessell, St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee; Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. T. Sloan, Alton, Ill.; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Zumal, St. Mary Seminary, Ordard Lake, Michigan; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Felix Vogt, Saginaw; Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Soneloff, Saginaw; Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. J. Ivie, Storm Lake, Iowa; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Lewandowski, Bay City; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond E. Baker, Grand Rapids.

Representatives of the various religious houses in the mid-west were also present as well as 65 priests, friends of Bishop Noa and his brothers and sisters with their families.

Five fourth degree Knights of Columbus from Escanaba and Powers attended the installation service in Marquette yesterday. They are Alex E. St. Cyr, Arthur Messier, Ray Gasman and John Schoonenberg of Escanaba, and B. Frazer, Powers.

Ewe-Nursed Pups Good Sheep Dogs
Johannesburg (P) — Bushveld farmers in South Africa have invented a new way to train sheep dogs to protect their herds against jackals. A new born puppy is placed with a ewe and fed by her. When big enough it is allowed out with the flock but always fed at the farm house. Having been brought up with the sheep the dog becomes their natural protector, and when it returns to the farm for its evening meal the sheep follow it home.

Maru Shampine Takes "First" In Municam Contest

Munising — Miss Mary Jayne Shampine who has been constantly among top winners in the Munciam picture contests the past year, was awarded another first place Tuesday evening in the September photo competition of the club for her picture "Forty Winks."

Subject of Miss Shampine's winning photograph was a baby asleep in a stroller. She had also gained recognition for the picture a few weeks ago when it appeared in the rotogravure section of a large Sunday paper.

Second place in the local competition Tuesday was awarded Miss Lucille Buckley, president of the club, for her shot entitled "Quilla" in which she pictured two persons working a quilla board with two kibitzers standing nearby. Edmund Erickson was given third place for a picture of the entrance of Fort Wilkins in the cooer country.

Contest judges were: Helen Robb, Neil Booker and Leanne Buddick.

A committee was chosen to select camera subjects for future contests during the coming year and is composed of Mary Jayne Shampine, chairman; assisted by Vincent Ouellette, Miss Frieda Swartz, and Mrs. Elbin Strom.

The Munciam club will participate in the Art Exhibit to be held Oct. 13-17 sponsored by the Munciam township school system, the club president announced. The club will have a separate room to exhibit their work, she remarked.

Public Invited To Special C-C Meeting Tonight

Munising — Members of the Munising Chamber of Commerce and the general public are invited to attend a special meeting of the chamber at 8 this evening in the legion club to discuss the future progressive policies of the organization. Lew Merwin, secretary, has announced.

The present chamber of commerce, formed early in 1946 to succeed the Munising development club, commanded much interest at first as a new slate of officers took over, special committees formed to draw up a progressive program, and a full-time paid secretary was employed. Membership at that time, representing industry, business and private citizens, totaled more than 100.

Lately, however, membership at the monthly meetings has dropped off and most of the committees have become inactive. At the last regular general session of the chamber, Lew Merwin reported, there were not enough members present to carry out current business.

The meeting this evening, it is expected, will revolve around discussion of membership, a constitution and by-laws for the organization, and the forming of a future progressive program.

Co-Op Hall Ban No Reflection On Co-Operative

Munising — City commissioners, in an effort to clarify their resolution adopted recently restraining the use of the Munising Co-op hall for dances and mixed parties and deeming the hall a public nuisance, yesterday, issued another resolution, as the outcome of the commission meeting held Sept. 16 at which Co-op representatives appeared relative to the commissioners' previous action.

The new resolution, offered by Mayor Gibson and carried by unanimous vote of the commissioners reads as follows:

"That the resolution of the previous meeting was not intended as a reflection on the Treasury Co-op or its operation of the Co-op hall as such, but the Council felt that in view of mixed gatherings in the building and the close proximity of neighboring residences being only a few feet away, that unless adequate toilet facilities were maintained and proper supervision of crowds and debris were had, the use of the building would and did become in the past offensive to nearby residents.

"That it appears the hall now has adequate toilet facilities and has made arrangements for supervision of activities of users of the hall in the matter of control of closing hours and handling debris of gatherings.

"Therefore the city feels that in view of present arrangements, no offensive conditions will arise."

Julius Silva, president of the Treasury Farmer's co-operative store, Trenary, aroused by the publicity following the commissioners' restraining order on the hall, recently stated that the purpose of the hall has been and will be to hold meetings and such gatherings of groups and organizations who are working for the public interest and that the co-operative had denied the charges against their organization previously cited in the commissioners first resolution.

MUNISING BRIEFS
Beverly Osland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Osland has left for Adrian where she will attend Adrian college as a sophomore.

Theodore Ouellette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ouellette, left yesterday for East Lansing where he is enrolled at the Michigan State college.

Band Association Formed
In 'Stique - Rec Board
And CC Lay Foundation

A Manistique Band association, to sponsor a band for the city of Manistique, was formed Tuesday night at a meeting of band members and interested persons. The meeting, held in the city fire hall, was called by the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce cooperating with the city Recreation commission.

To form an executive board, to govern the band and its funds, a nominating committee of five members was chosen by elected chairman pro tempore, Leonard Mulhaupt. The nominating committee consisted of Thomas Anderson sr., Peter Gorsche, Clinton Leonard, Donald Foye and Graydon Stone.

The committee nominated Fred P. Heltman, Thomas Bolitho, Lawrence Gorsche, Thomas Anderson sr., and Clinton Leonard to candidacy for the executive positions. The nominees were unanimously elected by the 22 persons present. Officers of the association, formed at the suggestion of Thor Reque to alleviate difficulties similar to the summer fricas, have not all accepted the positions, as some were not present at the election.

Early next week the executive board will meet, after which a general meeting of all members of the band, with the executive board, will be held to elect officers of the band.

The association Tuesday night adopted a temporary constitution and set of by-laws. In the original governing document it was directed that the band director be selected by the executive committee. At the motion of Clinton Leonard, who stated "the boys who play should select their director," the ruling was stricken from the constitution. An amendment requiring the director to be elected by the band was added.

The preliminary meeting to discuss problems peculiar to a band in Manistique was held earlier in the evening. Leonard Mulhaupt, secretary of the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce, presented the group with facts and figures on band organization in other Upper Peninsula cities. It was learned that Escanaba allocates $3,000 yearly for a city band; Menominee, $2,700; Sault Ste. Marie, $3,155, and Marquette, $2,500.

During discussion of a fair fee for band members, City Manager James Dickson stated "The band should not be entirely dependent upon city coffers for existence—nor should it be limited by city funds."

At present no funds are available for the band. However, during the past summer a group of young men had formed a band. Upon request of Thor Reque they had presented a bill for concerts and encountered difficulty due to low funds in the city Recreation commission. The case was appealed to the city council where it was decided the recreation commission should pay the band members, and seek additional funds from the city at a later date, if necessary.

Peter Gorsche stated in the discussion that he could not understand why band members should be contacted, play concerts, and then have to beg for remuneration. Whereupon Lawrence Gorsche called attention of those assembled to the fact that in the past the Woodmen of the World had provided for the Manistique band organization. This was said to have somewhat blinded the citizens to their duties concerning a band and subsequent appreciation was therefore lacking.

The group also heard Clinton Leonard on the calling of a band at the whimsy of almost anyone—often causing members to lose a half-day's pay to play for one hour.

Plans to raise revenue for the band are still in the formative stage. The possibility of presenting two or three winter concerts, with the aid of civic organizations and industries of Manistique, was proposed. At present it is estimated that the band will need $1,500 for uniforms and $1,000 for instruments.

Clinton Leonard stated that in the past Manistique has had band organizations and that it may be possible to make arrangements for assistance with former members. Approximately 25 will constitute the new band, governed by the Manistique Band association.

Three of the executive board of five will serve for two years and two for one year. The constitution of the organization is such that it will have greater cohesive power than in the past and still give the band members democratic freedom. A majority of band members shall constitute a quorum and they may call special meetings to elect a new director, make amendments to the constitution and by-laws and meet with the executive board. The latter are required to submit a financial report at each meeting.

Anyone in sympathy with the object of the band organization is eligible for membership.

To Be Installed

Rev. Mr. Paul Sobel will be installed as pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, of Manistique, at ceremonies this evening by the Rev. N. U. McConaughy, moderator of the Synod of Michigan. Services, to be attended by Rev. Earl Harris and Rev. C. E. Morrison of St. Ignace, will begin at 8 o'clock in the church.

The mixed quartet of the Presbyterian church will deliver a special number and Rev. Sobel, graduate of McCormick Theological Seminary, will present a violin solo. Following church services Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Sobel will hold a reception.

The Rev. Sobel majored in psychology and violin studies while attending Taylor university in Indiana and there was active in several musical organizations. He was born in Anderson, Ind., and attended the high school there prior to his college work. Following four years at McCormick Seminary, during which he earned his bachelor of divinity, Rev. Sobel was assigned the Presbyterian parish of Kerkoven and Maynard, Minn.

During college he was director of boys work in community centers and with his first assignment began developing a community recreation program and directed band and choral clubs in the high school. Upon his assignment to Manistique, recently, the community honored him with a "Paul Sobel Night."

The public is invited to the services for his formal installation as pastor of the Presbyterian church here.

Tigers Take 10-Inning Tilt, Hike Second Place Lead To Full Game

HUTCH GARNERS VICTORY NO. 17

Pinch Double In Tenth Frame Beats Chicago White Sox, 5-4

Chicago, Sept. 24 (P)—The Detroit Tigers increased their second place lead in American league standings to a full game over the Boston Red Sox tonight by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5-4 in 10 innings before 2,806 persons. Freddie Hutchinson pitched the route on a yield of nine hits to gain his seventeenth victory of the season against 10 losses.

After Hutchinson walked home a run to allow the White Sox to pull into a 3-3 tie in the ninth, Dick Wakefield inserted a pinch double in the Tiger tenth to win the game.

Wakefield batted for Roy Cullenbine, who was chased by Umpire Jim Boyer after an argument. Chicago scored again in the tenth but Hutchinson pitched out after the White Sox still had two runners aboard with only one out.

The loss, Chicago's fifteenth in 22 games against Detroit this season, was charged to Earl Caldwell. The 43-year old right hander was the last of three White Sox pitchers.

Cleveland Thumps St. Louis, 9 and 1; No. 20 For Feller

St. Louis, Sept. 24 (P)—With Ken Keltner batting in four runs to lead the way the Cleveland Indians thumped St. Louis Browns tonight for 15 hits and a 9 to 1 victory tonight behind the five-hit pitching of Hurler Bob Feller. It was Bob's 20th victory of the season.

The Indians started in on Ellis Kinder in the first inning when, with two out, Hank Edwards and Lou Boudreau singled, Les Fleming walked and Keltner singled to send Edwards and Boudreau home. Feller opened the second frame with a triple and scored on Dale Mitchell's single.

The big inning for Cleveland came in the fifth when they pounded Kinder out of the box with a five-hit attack which netted four runs. Walter Brown stopped the Indians for the time being but the visitors picked up two more runs in the sixth.

The Browns' lone run came in the sixth when Paul Lehner walked, Johnny Bernard singled for the second St. Louis hit of the game and Jeff Heath hit safely scoring Lehner. Cleveland ... 210 042 000—9 15 1

Lemmon expressed the view the paper pulp industry could be developed in tropical New Guinea because there was abundant water for hydro-electric projects, and pine trees grew quickly. Lemmon said it was considered locally that fine tea could be grown in the higher altitudes in the territory, while top price coffee beans already were being produced.

HOMER IN 9TH DEFEATS CUBS

Cincinnati, Sept. 24 (P)—Grady Hatton, first up in the ninth for Cincinnati, banged the ball over the right field fence to give the Reds a 6 to 5 victory over Chicago Today and clinch fifth place in the National league for the Redlegs.

In the Chicago half of the ninth Kent Peterson, the Reds' freshman southpaw, entered the game with none out, the bases full of Cubs and retired the side without a run being scored, for one of the best relief pitching jobs seen here this season.

Ken Raffensberger started for Cincinnati but was knocked out of the box in the first inning when four hits netted four runs for Chicago. The Reds got two of them back in their half of the first and added another in the fourth. The Cubs pulled away again in the eighth with a run, but the Reds tied it with two counters in the same frame. Then came the sensational ninth.

It was the last game of the season in Cincinnati and the 1,947 fans who saw it boosted the home attendance for the season to 900, 024. The total paid attendance last year was 715,751.

DEER HUNTING STARTS SUNDAY
Archers To Get 45-Day Season In Necedah Wild Life Refuge

Necedah, Wis., Sept. 24 (P)—The Necedah wild life refuge, fabulous valley where the white deer flags fly, becomes the capital of the archery world at exactly one-half hour before sunrise Saturday.

Some four thousand big game bowmen whose journeys from a score of states has made this the nation's biggest hunt among followers of the feathered shaft, will be free to roam the 40,000 acres of the refuge for 45 days, with any deer fair game.

The thickets of Necedah's meadow valley last year gave up 129 deer averaging 120 pounds in weight to 2900 hunters, including 740 who registered from Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Colorado, Kentucky, California, Oklahoma, New York, Texas, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Alabama.

The average distance was 27.8 yards. Of course, more spectacular shots were recorded. Stanley Deal of Cedar Falls, Iowa, dropped a 100 pound doe at 70 yards and Noel Mead of Rockford, Ill., killed his at 65 yards. A 250 pound buck fell at 30 yards to a single arrow from Charles T. Foss, Madison, Wis.

Gould City Stops Rexton To Capture Central Loop Title

Gould City, Sept. 24 (P)—Gould City won the "rubber" game of the best-two-of-three Central Baseball League championship series here, defeating Rexton, 7-3, with a five-run rally in the ninth frame. In a series packed with thrills from start to finish, Gould City copped the opener, 1-0, and then dropped the second game, 3-2.

In the finale, Gould City went into the ninth inning trailing by that same count, 3-2, but this time things were different. The new champions swung into a five-run blast that settled the issue.

DODGERS EDGED BY GIANTS, 6-5

Brooklyn, Sept. 24 (P)—After Hal Gregg tuned up for the world series with a one-hit shutout job on New York for five innings to- nings today, the Giants hopped on Rookie Willard Ramsdell for six runs in the sixth inning and a 6-5 edge over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the final meeting of the two clubs this season.

A crowd of 16,990 turned out for the Brooks' final pre-series appearance at Ebbets field, showing the attendance to a new National league high of 1,807,596. The Dodgers set the old record in 1946.

With Gregg mowing down the Giants in the first five innings, the pennant winners clubbed starter Andy Hansen for a 4-0 early edge. Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese and Spider Jorgensen were the only regulars in the starting lineup as the Dodgers scored twice in the first on Al Gionfriddo's single, a walk to Robinson, Dick Whitman's sacrifice and a two-run error by Bobby Rhawn on Duke Snider's bouncer.

Duke Snider's double followed by Jorgensen's fifth homer added two more Dodger runs in the third before Hansen gave way to Joe Beggs.

Ramsdell gave up all six Giant runs in the sixth. He hit Joe La-fata with a pitched ball and walked Jack Lohrke, the first two men he faced. After striking out Wes Westrum with his knuckler and making Rhawn sky to Whitman, he dished up a double to Buddy Kerr, scoring Lafata and Lohrke.

Bobby Thomson struck out but the pitch got away from Gil Hodges for an error and Thomson reached first. Johnny Mize walked to load the bases and Willard Marshall also stroled, forcing in the third run. Walker Cooper followed with a double, scoring Thomson, Mize and Marshall before Ramsdell was replaced by Ery Palica who retired the side.

The Brooks picked up a fifth score in the eighth on Stan Ro-jek's single and Carl Furillo's pinch triple and they had the bases loaded in the last of the ninth before a double played the game.

Rumor Says Lippy Will Be Reinstated As Dodger Manager

New York, Sept. 24 (P)—A reliable source whose identity can not be disclosed said tonight that Leo Durocher, suspended former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has applied to Commissioner A. B. Chandler for reinstatement and that Chandler had answered this appeal.

Although there was no confirmation, the same source intimated that Durocher had been given the green light, once the 1947 season and World Series is completed.

Final standings:

Phillies Shortstop Skeeter Newsome Asks For Release

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (P)—Skeeter Newsome, plucky little shortstop of the Philadelphia Phillies, today asked and was given his unconditional release, effective at the close of the current season.

The Phils' front office said Newsome, at home recuperating from a minor operation, declined a managerial post in the club's farm system. Newsome, 37, said he felt he has a few years left in the majors and was eager to hook up with another club.

He began his major league career in 1935 with the Philadelphia Athletics after starring for Tulsa in the Texas League.

SYRACUSE TAKES CUP
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24 (P)—The Syracuse Chiefs captured the International league's Governors' cup here tonight before 11,388 fans by defeating the Buffalo Bisons, 10 to 3, in the seventh and deciding game of the series.

The victory qualified the Chiefs for the Little World Series against the American Association's representative, the series will begin here Saturday night.

U. P. Fliers Recommend Retention Of Evans As State Air Group Chief

By unanimous vote, the Upper Peninsula Flight Operators' association at its meeting last night in the House of Representatives, resolved to recommend to Governor Sigler and W. B. Stout, chairman of the state board of aeronautics, that Col. Floyd E. Evans be retained as director of the state aeronautics department.

The resolution served as a direct answer to the Aviation Association of Michigan, which only a few days ago unanimously passed a resolution calling for Evans' dismissal.

The U. P. resolution was passed after a lengthy discussion of the apparent movement underway in Lower Michigan to oust Evans in which Stanley Long, Marquette, U. P. association president; Walter Arntzen, Escanaba, U. P. secretary-treasurer; Glenn Anderson, Bruce Crossing flight operator; Joe Fontana, Iron Mountain, and several other members spoke in defense of Evans.

Arntzen, head of Pioneer Aviation and chairman of the aviation committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, said Evans is a "square-shooter, a hard worker for the best interests of flying in Michigan" and called attention to the fact that Michigan ranks first among all states in the development of aeronautics.

J. T. Sharpsteen, Escanaba, engineer for the Delta county road commission, reviewed briefly the establishment and work of the state aeronautics board and stressed that Upper Peninsula highway interests are "behind Evans."

Sharpsteen is a former member of the state aeronautics board. After the resolution was passed, the association decided that as many representatives of the group as possible should confer with Milo Fontana, U. P. representative on the state board, to determine exactly why such a move was taken by the Aviation Association of Michigan.

Milo Fontana was unable to attend last night's session here, and no other member of the association, it was explained, had any first-hand knowledge of why Aviation Association of Michigan wanted to oust Evans.

It was the consensus that it would be "foolhardy" to dismiss Evans, who, it was emphasized, has played a major role in leading Michigan to the top spot in aeronautics development in the United States.

Joe Fontana told President Long that he would inform Secretary Arntzen as soon as possible when a meeting could be arranged with his brother, Milo.

As a move toward assuring U. P. flight operators of adequate representation at future meetings of the Aviation Association of Michigan, it was decided to determine whether a single delegate could vote by proxy for the entire U. P. association.

Excerpts of the U. P. resolution follow:

"Whereas, the director of the Michigan department of aeronautics has personally demonstrated for the last 15 years a genuine interest in continued development of airports, emergency fields and facilities, and

"Whereas, (he) has been an exponent of safe flying and has continuously fought unselfishly to protect and safeguard aviation in our state, and

"Whereas, (he) commands the respect of many military and aviation people in our nation for his enviable record in World War I and World War II,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the Upper Michigan Flight Operators' association recommend to the Honorable Kim Sigler * * * and to Mr. W. B. Stout, chairman of the Michigan board of aeronautics, that the present director * * * Col. Floyd E. Evans, be retained in his present capacity to guarantee that aviation in Michigan will be best served."

St. Nicholas

Janie's Party

St. Nicholas, Mich.—Janie DeBucher entertained a number of her friends on Sunday, Sept. 14, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

At the close of the afternoon a tasty lunch was served. The table was set for eight and a large tiered birthday cake centered the decorations.

Janie, whose birthday is Sept. 12, received lovely gifts.

Other than the honored guest at the party were: Alice, Rita, Bernice and Germaine Lippens, Laura and Elaine Heynnessens, and Marie VanDamme.

Briefs

Bobby Heynnessens spent several days at Watson at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pat DeBucher.

Mrs. Lucy Purtil and daughter, Mildred, spent from Wednesday until Friday at the Douglas Bennett home in Escanaba.

Mrs. Stanley Joque underwent an operation for relief from appendicitis at the St. Francis hospital Friday.

Mrs. Edward Joque, son, Stanley, and his children, Barbara and Jack, visited Mrs. Joque at the hospital Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Hermes, mother of Mrs. Stanley Joque, and son, Dick, spent Friday in Escanaba with Mrs. Joque.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hopper and baby returned to Detroit Sunday after visiting Mrs. Mary McPhee for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Martin of Manistique were guests at the Joe Farley home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Deloria and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Duncan of Detroit were weekend guests of Mrs. George Truckey.

Percy Cousineau of Hardwood visited his grandfather, Philip Plante, at the weekend.

Chas. Winter and Mrs. Bud Winter visited Bud Winter at the St. Francis hospital Sunday.

Mother Holds Baby Under Water, Then Drinks Wash Bleach

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—A depondent mother held her seven-month-old son under seven inches of water today "until he stopped kicking," police Lt. John Sullivan announced, then tried to end her own life by drinking a washing bleach.

The drowning of baby Robert Brunn occurred in the bathtub of the Brunn home at 4724 north Kenneth Avenue. Sullivan said the mother, Ann, 39, told him she killed the boy because "I could not take care of him."

The officer said Mrs. Brunn, wife of a contractor and general maintenance man, gave this account:

She bathed the boy this morning and after dressing him, she removed his clothes and ran the water in the tub. She held him under until he "stopped kicking," then left him there while she washed out some of his clothes and hung them to dry.

Sullivan's squad found the baby in lukewarm water and tried to revive him. An antidote was given the mother and she was taken to the Albany Park district police station for questioning.

Detective Michael Fitzgerald said the woman had been committed to a state mental hospital for a time after the birth of her first child, Jane, 10.

Defeat Conceded For Pension Plan At Ford Motor Co.

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—Defeat of the $200,000,000 Ford Motor Co. pension plan, first large scale program of its kind in the auto industry, was conceded today by its sponsors within the CIO United Auto Workers.

As first returns from a vote at the big Rouge plant were announced, Vice President Richard T. Leonard of the UAW-CIO, admitted that chances for acceptance of the pension program by 107,000 Ford production workers were "hopeless."

With about 6,000 of 43,000 votes counted, the Rouge workers were five to one against the pension plan and its accompanying seven cents an hour wage increase.

They favored, instead, an 11½ cent an hour wage boost plus six paid annual holidays, the 1947 pattern in the industry. Final tabulation was expected to end Thursday evening.

Thirty of Ford's 43 branch plants had already rejected the pension system and its repudiation by the big Rouge local would seal its defeat.

Lewis' Lone Stand Gives NLRB Labor Cases By Default

BY HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—John L. Lewis, who refuses to sign an affidavit swearing he's not a Communist, is permitting cases involving his miscellaneous district 50 to go by default at the National Labor Relations Board.

Lewis, a long-time foe of Communists, made known his opposition to signing the affidavit required by the Taft-Hartley labor act at the Chicago meeting of the AFL executive council two weeks ago. His lone stand against the declaration prevented all AFL unions from using facilities of the NLRB for the time being.

Under a ruling by NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham, all AFL and CIO officers must sign or none of their affiliated unions may use the board.

The AFL will grapple anew with the problem at its convention in San Francisco, beginning October 6. The CIO, whose officers also have delayed action on the affidavits, will make its decision at its Boston convention, beginning October 13.

4. Rep. Kean (R-NJ), member of the powerful House Ways and Means committee, told a reporter that putting into practice the Marshall plan for aiding Europe "would not mean tremendous additional drains on our resources."

Against the projected $19,330,000,000 loans and grants from America over a four-year period, Kean compared the current year's foreign relief and loans. Estimating this at $4,301,000,000, he observed that this program could be largely discontinued under the new proposal.

5. Preston Delano, comptroller of the currency, in a speech to state banking commissioners, urged them to discourage "dangerous credit practices," declaring we are caught in an "inflation spiral."

6. Elliott V. Bell, New York state superintendent of banks and chief fiscal adviser to Governor Dewey, said in an address here that "If we now pull back from Britain, France and the rest of Western Europe, we may see freedom for which we fought strangled before our eyes."

7. Senator Smith (R-NJ), co-chairman of a joint congressional committee studying Europe's problems, told reporters in Berlin that it is "vitally necessary that at least the three Western zones of Germany be tied into the Marshall plan."

He said stop-gap financial aid is needed for Europe's fuel and food.

8. Rep. Mundt (R-SD), committee co-chairman, said it is "vitally necessary" to get Germany back on a self-sustaining basis to help all Europe recover.

Industry Urged To Hire More Women

Canberra, (AP)—Australian Minister for Labor and National Service Edward J. Holloway has appealed to employers to take more women into factories and offices, many on a part-time basis.

The minister suggested in a statement that short shifts should be worked to permit married women to take a job, and help achieve greater production.

The statement added 620,000 Australian women were in employment today, excluding rural and domestic workers. This figure was 20,000 below the wartime peak, the minister added.

"DEATH TO TRUMAN" Athens, Sept. 24 (AP)—Chief of Police Angelo Evert said tonight that signs reading "Death to Truman" were painted on some walls in the city last night. He said the painting was done by Communists.

State Marshall's suggestion to weigh Europe's needs and her own resources was received here late yesterday. It contemplates the extension of loans and grants totalling $22,440,000,000 over a four-year period, including loans of $3,110,000,000 from the World Bank and the rest from the "American continent." Virtually all of whatever sum is provided apparently must come from this country.

Sniffle, snuffle, ice and snow—
A frozen motor costs you dough.

Play it safe—get one of these
DU PONT brands of anti-freeze!

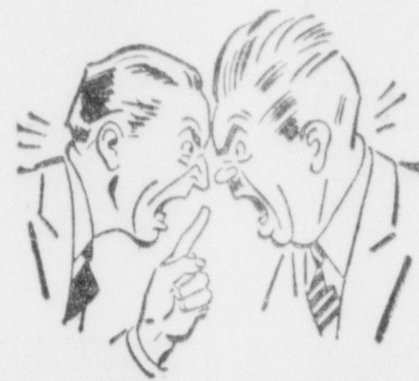

"ZERONE" GIVES YOU safe anti-freeze protection at minimum cost. It's made from the most efficient of all known safe anti-freeze materials: three quarts of "Zerone" will do the work of four quarts of most other types of anti-freeze. "Zerone" needs only an occasional check-up. It improves cooling—retards rust and corrosion—keeps a clean cooling system clean. Get "Zerone"—the dollar brand in most demand.

"ZEREX" GIVES YOU winter-long protection. It's non-evaporating—one filling lasts all winter in a properly operating cooling system. Like "Zerone," "Zerex" contains a special chemical inhibitor with a high "alkaline reserve" that gives long-time protection against corrosion. "Zerex" won't attack rubber, seep from tight cooling systems, or clog radiators. There's no better anti-freeze.
